

2

cant. It is supposed that if there was any intention to blow up any building in the vicinity the man might have gone to see if the coast was clear. There is no building in that locality except the police station on One Hundred and Twenty-fifth street near Amsterdam avenue, and it was suggested that the anarchist might have had a design on this building. A large five-story flat house is now being erected immediately adjoining the station-house. This theory is, however, discarded by Inspector Kelly. When Police Commissioner Conners was first seen by Kelly, the latter seemed to be looking for some place in which to hide his bundle.

The inspector has a description of Kelly's companion, and has already arrested on the one hundred and twenty-fifth street station. Kelly's headquarters will also be put on the case.

TYPHOID IN BUFFALO.

An Epidemic Threatened There Owing to Polluted Water.

(By Associated Press.)

BUFFALO, N. Y., March 12.—This city is threatened with serious epidemic of typhoid fever, caused by impurities in the water supply. According to a statement of physicians, a conservative estimate of the total number of typhoid cases existing at the present time would be fifty. Five new cases have been taken to the general hospital during the past week.

This is unusual at this time of year. It was discovered a few days ago that the water-works had been drawing from an abandoned inlet in proximity to the city sewers. Since then filters have been put into general use, but despite these precautions typhoid is spreading.

AVENGED BY HER BROTHER.

Faithless Lover Shot and Wounded at Norwood.

(By Associated Press.)

CINCINNATI, March 12.—Two weeks ago Harry F. Siebern, of Norwood, by the payment of $1,500, compromised a suit for breach of promise brought by Miss Clara Douglas, also of Norwood. A further condition of the compromise was that Siebern should not return to Norwood for six months.

Yesterday he returned, and while walking past the Douglas house, Charles Douglas, a brother of the wronged girl, fired a load of bird shot into Siebern's back, near the lower part of the spinal column. Siebern, who is an employee of the Drummond Tobacco Agency here, is seriously wounded.

SAID TO HAVE SEVEN WIVES.

Man Who Married an Illinois Girl Arrested for Bigamy.

(By Associated Press.)

CHICAGO, March 12.—John T. Hiller, who recently created a sensation at Bloomington by marrying Miss Washburn, of that city, half an hour after their first meeting, has been run to cover. Deputy Sheriff Slocum, of Bloomington, arrested him in this city yesterday, and his wife fainting when the warrant was read. The complainant is Mrs. Washburn, Mrs. Hiller's mother, who accuses him of bigamy and perjury.

It is said that Hiller has been seven times married, but he claims that the Bloomington girl is his only wife.

Opium Seized, Smuggler Escapes.

(By Associated Press.)

DETROIT, Mich., March 12.—Inspector Brown captured fifty pounds of smuggled opium on an outgoing Washburn train last night, but the smuggler, "Doc" Ouellette, of Windsor, escaped. Ouellette had been shadowed and was discovered in the smoking car. Brown started for him, but Ouellette jumped from the opposite side of the train and escaped in the darkness, leaving his revolver and two valises containing the opium to the officer.

ARTHUR GREEN IS A BAD MAN.

Assaulted His Father and Two Sisters While Drunk.

Has Served Time in State Prison for Shooting His Mother.

Arthur Green, twenty-eight years old, who has a very bad record, was held in the Lee Avenue Court, Williamstown, today, on several different charges preferred by members of his own family.

About six years ago Green had a quarrel with his brother, and shot at him, but the bullet went wild, and landed in his mother's leg. For this he was arrested, and sent to the Clinton Reformatory. He was later transferred to Clinton Prison.

A year and a half ago he was released, and, as he promised to behave himself, his parents took him home with them.

J. S. Green and his family live at 115 Rutledge street, near the most aristocratic section of Williamstown. For a time the black sheep behaved himself fairly well, but yesterday afternoon he returned home, after an absence of two days, full of liquor and looking for fight.

Arthur opened the proceedings by kicking an arm off a chair. Then he pitched a footstool through a window, smashing the glass. A moment later he announced that he could thrash his father, and proceeded to fulfil the announcement.

Mr. Green has two handsome daughters. Mary is a teacher in the Wilson street public school. The other, Genevieve, stopped in front of her brother as he advanced to attack her father, and commenced to plead with him. The latter, however, was not to be deterred, but hit the little finger of her left hand to the bone. Then he beat his mother, and finally turned on Mary Green, his sister Mary, whom he hit on the hand.

Policemen Maxwell and Betts were standing a block away at the time when a small boy came running up to tell them that some one was being murdered. They went to the house just in time to prevent Young Green from throwing all hands out of doors.

The desperado showed fight, and his captors had to handle him pretty roughly before they could get him out of doors.

The complaints made against the young man were one of intoxication by Genevieve Green, and a charge of assault on her father. Mary Green was too sick to-day to come to court.

TRAIN WRECK IN VERMONT.

One Killed and Several Injured Near Montpelier.

(By Associated Press.)

BURLINGTON, Vt., March 12.—A railroad wreck occurred on the Central Vermont Railroad, near Montpelier, this morning. One person was killed and several were severely injured.

The wrecked train ran into two large boulders.

Hold for Striking a Horse.

(By Associated Press.)

DETROIT, Mich., March 12.—Inspector Brown captured fifty pounds of smuggled opium on an outgoing Washburn train last night, but the smuggler, "Doc" Ouellette, of Windsor, escaped. Ouellette had been shadowed and was discovered in the smoking car. Brown started for him, but Ouellette jumped from the opposite side of the train and escaped in the darkness, leaving his revolver and two valises containing the opium to the officer.

CLEAR UP A MYSTERY.

Charles J. Gann's Body Found in a Creek Near Blackwell, N. J.

PAITSBORO, N. J., March 12.—The body of Charles J. Gann, of Swedesboro, who disappeared in a mysterious manner from this place several weeks ago, was found yesterday by two boys in a creek two miles east of Blackwell. There were no marks on the body to indicate that he was murdered, as has been asserted.

The disappearance of Gann awakened great interest in this neighborhood, and the search for the body, which was kept up for a long time, was abandoned only a few days ago, after every creek seemed to have been exhausted. On the night of his disappearance he had a fight with several men in a barroom in this place, and a few minutes later he was missing. Although suspicion rested upon the men who were last seen with him, no arrests were made.

For several days past two boys who live near the place where the body was found have noticed a strange looking object in the creek, but they made no closer investigation until yesterday, when they discovered that the object was the body of a man, badly decomposed and presenting every evidence of having been in the water a long time. The coroner was notified, and, suspecting that the body was that of Gann, he notified the relatives of the missing man, who readily identified the body by the clothing and a son on one arm. There were no marks of violence on the body, and it is supposed that after his trouble at the saloon he wandered away and committed suicide.

ILL WITH SNAIL-POX.

Mary Whitehead, eighteen months old, of 2732 North Avenue, was sent to North Brother Island this morning ill with snail-pox. She is believed to have contracted the disease in the neighborhood of the city, where several other snail-pox cases have been removed from the latter hospital.

March 12. The wind blew at a rate of forty-eight miles an hour at fifty-seven miles an hour at the city. The temperature was: On the 12th, highest 35, lowest 23; on the 11th, highest 41, lowest 23. New York has frequently had blizzards, but never such a continuation of all three as occurred here.

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees.

Mrs. S. B. Ashley.

For Feeble Women

HOOD'S CANNOT BE TOO HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass."

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for years and it has always given me the best of satisfaction. Had my appetite and was troubled with rheumatism in the left arm and shoulder and back. As soon as I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla my appetite increased, the rheumatism disappeared, and I felt better than for years before. I have used it for the cure of my rheumatism, and I feel that it is the best medicine I have ever used. It cannot be recommended too highly for women in feeble health, nor for children when teething. Any one giving it a fair trial will be well satisfied." Mrs. S. B. ASHLEY, North Richmond, Ohio. Get Hood's.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently on the liver and bowels. 25c.

HOOD'S CANNOT BE TOO HIGHLY RECOMMENDED

"C. I. Hood & Co., Lowell, Mass."

"I have used Hood's Sarsaparilla for years and it has always given me the best of satisfaction. Had my appetite and was troubled with rheumatism in the left arm and shoulder and back. As soon as I began to take Hood's Sarsaparilla my appetite increased, the rheumatism disappeared, and I felt better than for years before. I have used it for the cure of my rheumatism, and I feel that it is the best medicine I have ever used. It cannot be recommended too highly for women in feeble health, nor for children when teething. Any one giving it a fair trial will be well satisfied." Mrs. S. B. ASHLEY, North Richmond, Ohio. Get Hood's.

Hood's Pills act easily, yet promptly and efficiently on the liver and bowels. 25c.

BLIZZARD SIX YEARS AGO.

But To-Day's Weather Is Lamb-like and Promises to Continue.

No Cold Wave in Sight Anywhere Says Forecaster Dunn.

Today is the sixth anniversary of the big blizzard of 1888 that swept over New York, completely suspending traffic and imprisoning indoors most of the city's population. Local Forecaster Dunn looked over the records of the morning and drew attention to the fact that it was not the quantity of snow that fell in 1888 that caused the blizzard to be so severely felt.

"Only two feet of snow fell during the blizzard," said Mr. Dunn. "It came down to snow at 12.30 on the morning of the 12th, and by 12.30 inches fell during the day. On the 12th but three inches came down and one and four-tenths inches on the 14th, aggregating with decimals just a scant two feet."

It was the dry nature of the snow, fall and the great wind velocity that did the damage. The snow was blown up the fall for fifteen to twenty feet that marked the season. "March 12 the wind blew at a rate of forty-eight miles an hour at fifty-seven miles an hour at the city. The temperature was: On the 12th, highest 35, lowest 23; on the 11th, highest 41, lowest 23. New York has frequently had blizzards, but never such a continuation of all three as occurred here."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be clear, pleasant weather, with stationary clouds. It may be a little cooler to-morrow morning, but not much. The weather is generally fine to-day all over the country except in the South Atlantic States, where there are showers prevailing. Off the South Atlantic coast, a slight storm is on its way. It does not seem to be dangerous, but it may increase as it approaches the northeast. Temperatures are nearly stationary all over the country. It was 4 at Boston 42 at Chicago 40, St. Louis 40 and New York 38. The highest thermometer mark was reached at Key West, with 74, and the lowest, 24 at St. Vincent, Minn. It is generally above freezing at all points except in northern Michigan and Minnesota, and there the frost point is only exceeded by a very few degrees."

However, there's no fear of any more blizzards coming around here for some time to come, continued the weather expert. "There is no cold wave in sight anywhere, and for the next twenty-four hours it will be